Deep Listening. A vivid exploration of palliative care is drawn from in-depth interviews with care providers. It engages the audience with gentle humor and

Lisa Wagner life, the worth of it..."

poignant songs, exploring candidly the reality of what it is like to "look death in the face" on a daily basis. In collaboration with artists and those in the healthcare field, this 75 minute play examines the subjects of death, dying, and end of life care, with uplifting stories, hope, and the notion that "death makes the gleam on
